CELEBRATION OF HOSPITAL DAY AT RIVERVIEW TODAY

NEED OF IMPROVEMENTS AT LOCAL INSTITUTION POINTED OUT BY MISS MINNIE BEA, SUPERINTENDENT

Today the 102nd anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, was celebrated as Hospital Day throughout the United States and Canada as well as in Great Britain and other English speaking countries. Open house was held at Riverview Hospital, and a number of local people took advantage of the opportunity to become acquainted with Wisconsin Rapids' facilities for the care of the sick and with the needs of the local institution.

Miss Minnie Bea, superintendent of the hospital, acted as hostess, showing visitors the recent improvements and additions to the equipment and pointing out the need for further improvements.

Improvements Needed

"The great purpose of Hospital Day," Miss Bea said, "is to educate the public to the value of the work done by the hospitals, and to show how lack of proper facilities handicaps the work."

She pointed out the urgent need of improved equipment at Riverview, and how lack of funds sufficient even for maintenance purposes has placed a heavy burden on the staff of the institution in their efforts to give the best possible service.

Hoppers Unsatisfactory

"One of the greatest and most pressing needs is for new service room hoppers. Those in use at present are not properly designed and due to faulty plumbing do not flush properly. They are therefore both inconvenient to use and unsanitary.

"The walls and floors have never been refinished since the hospital was built, and despite the best efforts of the staff are gradually falling into a disreputable condition. The walls are becoming soiled and the floors are scratched and marred and need revarnishing.

"The present supply of bedding is inadequate and must be replenished in the near future. New dishes are needed, and other additions to the equipment will be required before long."

Hopeful For Future

In spite, however, of the financial difficulties which have handicapped the hospital, Miss Bea was optimistic about its future. She expressed the belief that as the people of the city became more familiar with the work and the needs of the institution, the necessary money would be forthcoming to maintain the standard of service which the hospital desires to give.

Find Human Knee Floating In River Near Plover Mill

Stevens Point—With the finding of a knee-joint which from all appearances came from the leg of a human being, floating against the racks in the Wisconsin river at the Whiting-Plover paper mill, authorities here are investigating what is proving a baffling mystery.

Although the piece of flesh and bone looked as though it had been brutally hacked from a human leg, it had not been officially determined at a late hour whether it came from a human being. Authorities, however, are working on the assumption that it did. Coroner H. D. Boston took the finding in charge.

Foul Play One Angle

Whether the joint, which appeared to have been roughly hacked from the upper portion of the limb a few inches above the knee and cut off diagonally a short distance below the knee-joint, came from the body of a person who had been murdered, furnished one angle to the mystery. It was not determined whether the piece of flesh and bone came from the body of a man or a woman.

It is declared very possible that the knee-joint floated down the Wisconsin river from a distance considerably north of here, or might even have floated into the river from some tributary stream to the north.

FRANCE HOLDING CONFERENCE FATE

BELIEVE DECISION OF PRESIDENT POINCARE ON RUSSIAN NOTE MAY DETERMINE FUTURE OF GENOA MEETING

(By Associated Press)

Genoa, May 12—The fate of the Genoa conference may be settled today in Paris in the opinion of many of the delegates and the decision of Premier Poincare on the Russian reply to the allied memorandum, it was added would be important.

Look To France

Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain and Signor Schanzer of Italy, foreign Minister, will use all their influence with the chief of the French delegation, M. Barthou, to emphasize the point that the Russian note, although it is not favorable, leaves the door open for discussion.

It is believed that if left to themselves, the majority of the powers will favor continuance of the discussions, but if France withdraws from the conference, it is certain that other powers will follow her. A number of such nations might be enough to make it impossible to pass an agreement with the Soviet, even if Lloyd George is willing to continue without France.

Pass Note On Indictment

M. Barthou telegraphed the text of the Russian communication to Paris and expected to receive his instructions today. After reading the document, his only comment was: "It is less an answer than an indictment."

The British view as given by Sir Edward Gray was that the note "was certainly cause for a rejoinder."

The economic conference sub commission on Russian affairs this afternoon postponed consideration of the Russian reply to the allied memorandum until eleven o'clock tomorrow morning.

PLAN UNGRADED ROOM FOR PUPILS WHO ARE OVERAGE

EXAMINATION OF DR. WATERHOUSE OF STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION SHOWS NEED FOR ASSISTING MANY

Recommendations for an ungraded room in one of the city schools to be used for instructing the overage grade school children of the city and parochial schools under special instructors, were made by Dr. Millicent Waterhouse, Asst. Psychologist of the State Department of Education at the close of her survey of the schools of this city this noon. Dr. Waterhouse conducted the examination in the public and parochial school this week.

Given Intelligence Tests

Examinations for the measurement of the intelligence of the overage grade school pupils were given by Dr. Waterhouse and it was found that there were about fourteen who were in need of special instruction due to subnormal intelligence. Nine others were found to be behind the average pupils due to some physical defects such as bad teeth, poor eyes, diseased tonsils and other remedial causes. Her recommendations were that those physically handicapped and those suffering from nervous disorders should have treatment and be restored as soon as possible to the regular class routine. The others were recommended to be assigned to an ungraded room for special instruction until they were able to go again into their regular classes.

Is Up To Board

The ungraded room is regarded by all educators as especially desirable because it gives those children who are backward the special attention they need and actually require and by thus segregating them it prevents them from becoming a drag upon the regular classes.

Adoption of Dr. Waterhouse's recommendations will be up to the board of education and it is understood that Supt. Doudna will present the proposition at the next board meeting.

PITTSVILLE ROAD IS NOT TO BE CHANGED

HIGHWAY OFFICIALS BELIEVE THAT BEAUTIES OF ROAD NEAR YELLOW RIVER WILL BE PRESERVED BY NEW ROAD

Complaints raised in the Pittsville district about the plans of abandoning a certain section of the Pittsville Marshfield road which now travels along the Yellow River, will in all probability be of no avail as the County has already purchased the right of way and could not make any change in the plans as adopted some time ago. The complaint was based on the fact that the new road instead of following the river as the old one does, makes a straight line through that district.

Officials See Advantages

The advantages of the new arrangements are many, the county highway officials argue. In the first place they say that the new road will cut off a considerable distance and thereby make a material saving in the cost of the paving. They also state that they have eliminated many dangerous corners, one of them which is a corner with an acute angle and that in relocating the highway they have put part of the road nearer the river than the old one and believe they have not sacrificed any of the beauties.

The following is a statement published in the Pittsville Record opposing the relocation of the highway:

"The Record is receiving many complaints against the straightening of the road north of the city along Yellow river. Conforming with the custom of the highway committee the road at this point is to be straightened, eliminating curves and corners. To do this it is necessary to take the road away from the river.

"Taking the road away from the river is what is causing the complaints. Many of the people who have spoken about the move claim that the committee should not turn from one of the prettiest drives in the country for the purpose of making a speedway, and claim that it is not speedways we are building, but better roads."

Records Of La Follette And Blaine Endorsed At Meeting

Madison, Wis., May 12—The records of Senator Robert M. La Follette in Congress, and of Gov. J. J. Blaine as chief executive of Wisconsin, have just been endorsed by a meeting of Outagamie county La Follette Progressive republicans.

The meeting passed a resolution asserting that Senator Anton Kuckuk and Assemblyman Mark Catlin had not represented the will of the "honest taxpayers and the majority of the pepople of Outagamie county," by voting against the repeal of the secrecy clause during the special session of the legislature. The record of Assemblyman Anton Miller was endorsed.

Repeal of the secrecy clause to the income tax law was urged.

Improved Prospect For Rye Shown In May Crop Report

Madison, Wis.—Winter wheat declined 1 per cent. in condition since a month ago, while rye improved 2 per cent, the May crop report today by Joseph A. Becker, of the Wisconsin Cooperative crop reporting service shows. Because of the late backward spring, the condition this year was said to be hard to estimate. Winter crops, like all crops, are starting growth much later than usual.

Wheat Winter Killed

Due to the relatively open winter the sleet storm in February and the heavy frosts in April, winter killing was above average this year. It is estimated that 16 per cent of the planted acreage will be abandoned, compared to 10 percent last year and a 10-year average of 10.3 per cent. Abandonment was particulary large in southern and eastern counties.

The area remaining for harvest is estimated at 87,000 acres, compared to 89,000 last year, and a 5-year average of 81,000 acres. The condition on May 1 was 83 per cent, compared to 85 per cent on April 1, 86 per cent for last year's crop on May 1, and a 10-year average of 86.9 per cent. Forecasted production is estimated at 1,704,000 bushels compared to 1,415,000 in 1921 and a 5-year average of 1,784 bushels.

Rye Hurt Less

The bulk of Wisconsin's rye crop is grown in the northern two-thirds of the state, where it was well protected by a snow covering during the past winter. The abandonment is reported as small. Much of the area abandoned will be remaining to be utilized as hay or pasture. The area remaining to be harvested is estimated at 364,000 acres. The condition on May 1 is estimated at 94 per cent, compared to 92 per cent on April 1, 91 per cent for last year's crop on May 1, and a ten year average of 91.6 per cent. Production as forecasted at 6,501,000 bushels, compared to 4,750,000 produced last year and a 5-year average of 5,661,000.

PITTSVILLE ROAD IS NOT TO BE CHANGED

HIGHWAY OFFICIALS BELIEVE THAT BEAUTIES OF ROAD NEAR YELLOW RIVER WILL BE PRESERVED BY NEW ROAD

Complaints raised in the Pittsville district about the plans of abandoning a certain section of the Pittsville Marshfield road which now travels along the Yellow River, will in all probability be of no avail as the County has already purchased the right of way and could not make any change in the plans as adopted some time ago. Officials See Advantages

The advantages of the new arrangements are many, the county highway officials argue. In the first place they say that the new road will cut off a considerable distance and thereby make a material saving in the cost of the paving. They also state that they have eliminated many dangerous corners, one of them which is a corner with an acute angle and that in relocating the highway they have put part of the road nearer the river than the old one and believe they have not sacrificed any of the beauties.

"The Record is receiving many complaints against the straightening of the road north of the city along Yellow river. Conforming with the custom of the highway committee the road at this point is to be straightened, eliminating curves and corners. To do this it is necessary to take the road away from the river.

"Taking the road away from the river is what is causing the complaints. Many of the people who have spoken about the move claim that the committee should not turn from one of the prettiest drives in the country for the purpose of making a speedway, and claim that it is not speedways we are building, but better roads."

Records Of La Follette And Blaine Endorsed At Meeting

Madison, Wis., May 12—The records of Senator Robert M. La Follette in Congress, and of Gov. J. J. Blaine as chief executive of Wisconsin, have just been endorsed by a meeting of Outagamie county La Follette Progressive republicans.

In a unanimously adopted resolution the meeting asked the re-election of Senator La Follette, Governor Blaine, Lieut. Gov. George F. Comings and the election of Fred R. Zimmerman for secretary of state; Herman L. Ekern for attorney general and Solomon Levitan for state treasurer.

The meeting passed a resolution asserting that Senator Anton Kuckuk and Assemblyman Mark Catlin had not represented the will of the "honest taxpayers and the majority of the people of Outagamie county," by voting against the repeal of the secrecy clause during the special session of the legislature. The record of Assemblyman Anton Miller was endorsed.

Repeal of the secrecy clause to the income tax law was urged.

Improved Prospect For Rye Shown In May Crop Report

Madison, Wis.—Winter wheat declined 1 per cent. in condition since a month ago, while rye improved 2 per cent, the May crop report today by Joseph A. Becker, of the Wisconsin Cooperative crop reporting service shows. Because of the late backward spring, the condition this year was said to be hard to estimate. Winter crops, like all crops, are starting growth much later than usual.

Wheat Winter Killed

Due to the relatively open winter, the sleet storm in February and the heavy frosts in April, winter killing was above average this year. It is estimated that 16 per cent of the planted acreage will be abandoned, compared to 10 percent last year and a 10-year average of 10.3 per cent. Abandonment was particulary large in southern and eastern counties.

The area remaining for harvest is estimated at 87,000 acres, compared to 89,000 last year, and a 5-year average of 81,000 acres. The condition on May 1 was 83 per cent, compared to 85 per cent on April 1, 86 per cent for last year's crop on May 1, and a 10-year average of 86.9 per cent. Forecasted production is estimated at 1,704,000 bushels compared to 1,415,000 in 1921 and a 5-year average of 1,784 bushels.

Rye Hurt Less

The bulk of Wisconsin's rye crop is grown in the northern two-thirds of the state, where it was well protected by a snow-covering during the past winter. The abandonment is reported as small. Much of the area abandoned will be remaining to be utilized as hay or pasture. The area remaining to be harvested is estimated at 364,000 acres. The condition on May 1 is estimated at 94 per cent, compared to 92 per cent on April 1, 91 per cent for last year's crop on May 1, and a ten year average of 91.6 per cent. Production is forecasted at 6,501,000 bushels, compared to 4,750,000 produced last year and a 5-year average of 5,661,000.

GIVEN FREEDOM ON $50 BOND AND MAKES GET AWAY

JEREMIAH HORN, ONE OF EIGHT INDICTED FOR MURDER, DISAPPEARS FOLLOWING ERROR BY OFFICIALS

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, May 12—Through an unexplained error by some official, Jeremiah Horn, saloon keeper indicted with several labor leaders for the murder of two policemen, was released from the county jail on $50 bond after being convicted of disorderly conduct. He has disappeared entirely.

A score of detectives were ordered by Chief Fitzmaurice to scour the city to find Horn when his release became known today.

Indictments For Eight

Proceeding under the same law invoked to convict the anarchists responsible for the Haymarket riots thirty-six years ago, the Cook county grand jury at 10 o'clock last night voted indictments against eight men for the murder of Acting Lieut. Terrence Lyons. Those hit by the true bills were:

Timothy D. "Big Tim" Murphy, who has been characterized as the "power behind the throne" in the Chicago Building Trades council.

Fred Mader, president of the Chicago Building Trades council.

Cornelius P. "Con" Shea, secretary-treasurer of the theatrical janitors' union.

Isadore Braveman, member of the fixture hangers' union, positively identified by two park policemen as the man who fired the shots which killed Lieut. Lyons.

Jeremiah Horn of Roney & Horn, saloonkeepers, whose place was was among those closed in Wednesday's raids, and in which revolvers, ammunition, etc., were found—a dive notorious as a rendezvous for labor leaders and sluggers.

Daniel McCarthy, business agent for the plumbers' union.

Thomas Hogan, member of the fixture hangers' union.

Robert McCloud, said to be a slugger.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 12—The Petrunan mine in Penn township near here was blown up early today by a heavy charge of dynamite which threw stones so far that the farm house of Geo. Wessel almost a quarter of a mile away was damaged.

Sheriff Woodstock and several deputy sherirs left Pittsburgh shortly after nine o'clock for the mine where it was reported a body of coal strike sympathizers had collected.

PROGRESS IN RUSSIA

That Moscow is to have sewerage pipes installed this year for all its homes, instead of only one-third as at present, is of greater lasting significance than a treaty between the soviet and any commercial power

Treaties are the instruments of men and may be modified or abrogated as expediency suggests. Sewers are the instruments of society and people who adopt them do not yield them again easily and have, in fact, captured one more element of what is genuine civilization.

The critical American soldier in France found nothing so worthy of his satiric comment as the lack of plumbing; it is undoubtedly true that the happiness and health of the great mass of people living in Europe are grievously impaired by deficient methods of living.

Moscow may not possess the ideal form of government but a sewer is a great step toward an ideal form of living Perhaps when all peoples everywhere have been granted the means of normal healthy homes much of that discontent which too often resolves itself into chimerical projects of government will be removed

THE SUMMERTIME DANGER

With the approach of the summer camping and vacation season, it is timely that health officials are issuing warnings regarding the danger which may be met in the use of water for drinking and cooking purposes, which is found in springs or streams in camps or other places.

Frequent tests of drinking water in cities and towns where water systems are maintained have practically eliminated any danger of typhoid fever from this source, but this can not be said of the water that is commonly found in camping places, especially if these places are, used infrequently and care has not been taken to examine the water supply.

Water found in summer camps may be clear as crystal, yet it may contain germs which may have serious effects upon the person drinking it. Springs which appear to have their origin in safe places may be infected with germs from a source that is not easily discovered.

Tourists and others who yield to the temptation to drink from a spring that appears to be entirely safe may take into their systems the germs of typhoid fever, thereby running the risk of long illness or possible fatal results. It is better to be thirsty for a half hour longer until an approved source of drinking water may be reached.

It is wise not to take chances on contracting dangerous diseases when the exercises of judgment in keeping with medical knowledge may save lives, or at least avoid serious illness.

SURE! PLAYERS ATE COOKED FOOD DURING FILMING OF WILLIAM DE MILLE'S PRODUCTION "MISS LULU BETT"

In William de Mille's new Paramount picture, "Miss Lulu Bett," which comes to the Palace Theatre next Sunday and Monday there is a dinner scene which required that the various members of the cast actually eat the food.

It was lunch time and everyone was hungry. The scene was taken and the various players ate with avidity. But Mr. de Mille decreed that the scene be refilmed because something wasn't right. More food was brought on and the actors ate with noticeably less appetite. Still they did fairly well.

Again something went amiss and they had to do it over.

By this time those who had eaten most heartily at the first "take" began to show signs of distress, but they had to eat and appear to enjoy it.

By the time this scene had been retaken about four times, the actors were hardly able to swallow a mouthful and some refused to move from their chairs for several minutes. Next time, they aver, they'll eat sparingly at the start.

In William de Mille's new Paramount picture, "Miss Lulu Bett," which comes to the Palace Theatre next Sunday and Monday there is a dinner scene which required that the various members of the cast actually eat the food.

It was lunch time and everyone was hungry. The scene was taken and the various players ate with avidity. But Mr. de Mille decreed that the scene be refilmed because something wasn't right. More food was brought on and the actors ate with noticeably less appetite. Still they did fairly well.

Again something went amiss and they had to do it over.

By this time those who had eaten most heartily at the first "take" began to show signs of distress, but they had to eat and appear to enjoy it.

By the time this scene had been retaken about four times, the actors were hardly able to swallow a mouthful and some refused to move from their chairs for several minutes. Next time, they aver, they'll eat sparingly at the start.

New Stallion Registry Law Improves Quality Of Stock

Madison, Wis.—Due to effect of the Wisconsin stallion law requiring registry of all stallions, the number of pure bred sires of the state has increased from 35 per cent to 76 per cent within the past 15 years, the state department of agriculture announces.

The department says that through its authority to reject any stallion affected with disease it has materially improved the class of horses in Wisconsin. It continues to weed out the grade an scrub sires used in the state.

In setting a standard of soundness, the department says that it has decided to disqualify a stallion found to be afflicted with any heredity, communicable or transmissable disease. Blemishes or deformities due to accidental causes do not disqualify a horse under the department ruling.

PEN SIZE RADIO LATEST MARVEL

COMPLETE RECEVING SET ENCASED IN FOUNTAN PEN WORKS SATISFACTORLY WITHIN LIMITED RADIUS

Milwaukee—Stories that have challenged credence—relative to a radio receiving set encased in a fountain pen—have been substantiatd to several scores of Milwaukians who have "listened in" daily to radio concerts at the Plankinton Hotel headquarters of the Wisconsin Radio Show to be given at the Auditorium June 21-25.

The fountain pen set not only "works" but receives, with the assistance of the normal headpiece, quite as satisfactorily as many of the higher priced instruments. Its receiving radius is limited to ten miles making it necessary for its owner to live within that distance of a broadcasting station.

Give Demonstration

The novelty was sent to Milwaukee by its manufacturer as a personal compliment to the management of the Wisconsin Radio Show and was first demonstrated Monday night at a dinner given to the raido and electrical trade of Milwaukee. Its brilliancy of reproduction of Gimbel's radio program broke up the routine service of the dinner as the diners left their seats to stand in line for an opportunity to personally hear via the latest marvel in radio.

Is Practical

According to a general description by C. N. Crapo, President of the Milwaukee Amateur Radio Club, the fountain pen receiving set consists of an exceedingly simple crystal detector mounted and adjusted in the small fountain pen container. It is foolproof, unusually durable and may be carried in the vest pocket.

The pen will be one of the features shown at the Radio Show in June, which is to be held at the Auditorium on concurrent dates with the First State Convention of the American Radio Relay League.

Today, the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, will be observed as National Hospital Day throughout the United States and Canada.

Combine Movies And Russ Ballet On London Stage

London—London is witnessing the unprecedented combination of moving pictures and Russian ballet dancing in an entertainment being presented at Covent Garden, the "Home of the Grand Opera."

What some critics regard as the degradation of the historic theater is completed by the inclusion in the program of a new burlesque on modern ball-room dancing entitled "Ragtime." It is variously characterized as "outjazzing jazz" and "outraging ragtime." The ballet is the work of the Russian composer Stravinski.

The dancers' exaggerated movements to the orchestra's exaggerated syncopation is recommended by critics as "a sure cure for those infected with foxtrot virus."

"The Rehabilitation of Europe" is to be the general theme of discussion at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science which opens today to receive the honorary degree of doctor of doctor of laws from McGill University.

Badgers' Chance For Title Still Considered Good

Madison, Wis.—Wisconsin's ball-tossers are by no means out of the Conference pennant chase by reason of their defeat at the hands of Michigan. Without in any way detracting from Michigan's fine team, it may be frankly asserted that the Badger diamond artists were away off form when they played the Wolverines. They demonstrated this by the fine exhibition they gave while downing the Illini last Saturday. Jackson is reputed to be one of the best if not the very best pitcher in the Big Ten but the Badger sluggers showed little respect for his offerings, leaning against them for two home-runs, a triple, double, and three singles.

Williams A Star

The infield and outfield are playing well both as individuals and as a team. Barry is rendering yeoman service behind the bat and Rollie Williams in left makes a regular habit of sensational catches While not a slugger, Rollie is hard to pitch to and makes an excellent lead-off man. Rowdy Elliott's terrific hitting has been one of the features of the 1922 season, but this budding Babe Ruth has not quite come to form in his fielding yet.

With Paddock and Hoffman showing the same brand of curve-twisting they uncorked last week against Illinois and Notre Dame respectively, the Cardinal team should give the Wolverines a mighty interesting scrap for first honors.

URGES IMPORTANCE OF HIGH SALARIES

E. A. FITZPATRICK WARNS SCHOOL BOARDS AGAINST DISRUPTING TEACHING STAFF BY SALARY CUTS

Madison, Wis., May 12—School boards of Wisconsin are urged, to maintain present salaries paid to teachers, by the state board of education in a resolution adopted today.

The resolution recommended by E. A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the board, declares that "irreparable harm to the public schools will follow a breaking down of the present salary standards which could be brought up again, if at all, only with the greatest difficulty."

The board recommends that school boards adopt a salary schedule which will encourage every capable teacher to remain in the teaching profession, and that they should reward increased training and longer experience.

Weaken State System

Employment of poorly prepared teachers is said by the resolution to have greatly weakened the Wisconsin educational system, and to have resulted in an "appalling turnover of the teaching force especially in the rural districts, where according to a recent report, in the country schools of 61 counties, the turnover was 72 per cent."

Teachers' salaries which have been raised substantially in the last few years in an attempt to meet a rapidly rising cost of living are now, with prices somewhat lower, for the first time on a mose respectable, though certainly not extravagant basis.

Waste of Money

"It is a foolish waste of money to keep up normal schools, county training schools, and other educational agencies for the training of Wisconsin teachers and then permit neighboring and even distant states by means of higher salaries, to drain away some of the best of the trained teachers.

"In the matter of Teachers' salaries, Wisconsin stood in 1915 lower among the states of the union than in 1890, and fell to thirty-first place in 1918."

Will Hold Conference On Citizens Military Training

Chicago—A national conference on military training for citizens will be held in Chicago on May 19 under the auspices of the Military Training Camps association.

Last year there were 40,000 applications for 10,000 places in the citizens' camps, it was stated, and this year Congress is providing for 30,000 men at 25 camps distributed throughout the United States from Camp Devens, Massachusetts to Camp Lewis, Washington and the Presidio, San Francisco. Each Army Corps Area will have from one to four camps in proportion to its geographical extent and to the branches of the service in which training will be offered. It was announced that many important questions in connection with the voluntary citizen camps would be discussed at the Chicago conference by representatives of the Training Camps Association and by officers of the regular army, the national guard and the reserve. The honorary president of the Association is President Emeritus Henry S. Drinker of Lehigh University, the conference chairman is Charles B. Pike of Chicago.

Bloomers Standard For Chicago Men And Women

Chicago, Ill.—Knickerbockers are no longer a fad at the University of Chicago but the accepted form of dress for both the co-eds and the men. When the men first came to class in more or less juvenile attire, it occasioned some staring, but it soon became accepted as the style to wear. Lately the women also have been wearing the garb to class and now a goodly percentage of the students wear the short pant.

URGES IMPORTANCE OF HIGH SALARIES

E. A. FITZPATRICK WARNS SCHOOL BOARDS AGAINST DISRUPTING TEACHING STAFF BY SALARY CUTS

Madison, Wis., May 12—School boards of Wisconsin are urged, to maintain present salaries paid to teachers, by the state board of education in a resolution adopted today.

The resolution recommended by E. A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the board, declares that "irreparable harm to the public schools will follow a breaking down of the present salary standards which could be brought up again, if at all, only with the greatest difficulty."

The board recommends that school boards adopt a salary schedule which will encourage every capable teacher to remain in the teaching profession, and that they should reward increased training and longer experience.

Weaken State System

Employment of poorly prepared teachers is said by the resolution to have greatly weakened the Wisconsin educational system, and to have resulted in an "appalling turnover of the teaching force especially in the rural districts, where according to a recent report, in the country schools of 61 counties, the turnover was 72 per cent."

Teachers' salaries which have been raised substantially in the last few years in an attempt to meet a rapidly rising cost of living are now, with prices somewhat lower, for the first time on a more respectable, though certainly not extravagant basis.

Waste of Money

"It is a foolish waste of money to keep up normal schools, county training schools, and other educational agencies for the training of Wisconsin teachers and then permit neighboring and even distant states by means of higher salaries, to drain away some of the best of the trained teachers.

"In the matter of Teachers' salaries, Wisconsin stood in 1915 lower among the states of the union than in 1890, and fell to thirty-first place in 1918."

By Louis Joseph Vance
COPYRIGHT 1922, By Louis Vance.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Had the time come for
LUCINDA DRUCE, wealthy, young and beautiful, to break with her husband,
BELLAMY? This was the thought running through Lucinda's mind as she lunched with her friend,
FANNY LONTAINE, at the Ritz, After five years of married life, Bel's incurable appetite for cheap flirtation and his heavy drinking had almost destroyed her love. Should she have married
RICHARD DAUBENEY, "good old Dobbin" who had now returned to New York?

That very morning she had, by accident, overheard her husband making a luncheon apointment with
MRS. AMELIE SEVERN, the most recent object of his attentions. In the lobby, she separated from her friends for an instant and was confronted by her husband, slightly intoxicated.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Thought I'd look in on your party. You know, you asked me—"

She could not trust her tongue. If she said more in her anger, she would say too much. She cried all in a breath: "Well, go away then! I don't want you, I won't have you!" and pushing past Bel fled into the cloakroom.

He drew himself up sharply and ironed out all indications of his embarrassment, assuming what he believed to be a look if haughty indifference.

His gaze focused intelligently upon the glass case that displays the wares of the hotel florist. Women liked flowers. But there were four in Linda' party, her guests would think it funny if he joined them, bringing flowers for his wife only . . . A tough problem. He decided to step around to the club and mull it over . . . .

He had disappeared by the time Lucinda showed herself again. Outwardly mistress of herself, she resumed her chair as Richard Daubeney passed with his luncheon party, and made directly for her corner. Instanteously Lucinda experienced a slight psychic shock and found herself again the self-contained, the young woman of the world whom nothing could dismay.

Dobbin kenw everybody except the Lontaines; and when the flutter created by his introduction had subsided, he found a chair by Lucinda's side and when the conversation swung to a pageant he took advantage of the general interest to detach Lucinda's attention.

"I couldn't resist the temptation to butt in, Cinda. Hope you don't mind."

"It's always nice to see you."

"I can see you're troubled about something because I know so much better than anybody else. I'll lay long odds no one else has noticed anything, but to my seeing eyes you've been flying signals of distress all during luncheon. That being so, it wouldn't be decent of me not to give you a hail and stand by in case I'm needed—now would it?"

Momentarily Lucinda contended against temptation. Then, "You are a dear, Dobbin," she said almost regretfully. "But it isn't fair of you to see too much. If it's true I have secrets I don't want to share, it would be kinder to let me keep them— don't you think?"

Jean Sedley was claiming her attention. "What do you think of that, Cindy? Isn't it a ripping idea?"

"Afraid I didn't hear—I was flirting with Dobbin.'"

"Yes, I know. But Mr. Lontaine has just made a priceless suggestion about the pageant. He says we can have moving-pictures taken as we enter the ballroom and shown before the evening is over."

"I don't know," Lucinda demurred. "It must be a weird sensation.'

"Not one you need be afraid of," Lontaine promised. "If you don't mind my saying so, you would screen wonderfully, Mrs. Druce."

"You think so, really?"

"Tell you what," Lontaine offered eagerly: "suppose you take test, what? No trouble at all to fix it up for you. Take us all, for that matter just as we are. What do you say?"

"I say it's perfectly splendid!" Jean Sedley declared. "We'd all love it. When can you arrange it?"

"This afternoon, if that suits everybody. Only have to telephone and in half an hour they'll be all ready for us. Shall I?" Lontaine got out of his chair. "Do you say yes, all of you. Mrs. Druce? I know the others will if you do?"

"I don't mind," Lucinda agreed hesitantly.

"Right-O! Give me five minutes. ."

VII

As Lontaine had promised, so had he performed. This cinema chap he knew, Culp, had professed himself only too delighted.

With two cars at its disposal, the party split up into threes, Mrs. Sedley, Mrs. Guest and Lontaine leading the way. On the point of entering her car after Fanny, however, Lucinda recalled her bridge engagement and turned back to telephone that she would be late.

Having seen no more of Bellamy since their encounter she had dismissed the possibility of his returning. The surprise was so much the more unwelcome, consequently, when on leaving the booth she saw her husband, with his hat on the back of his head and his arms full of lavender orchids, wavering irresolutely in the entrance to the Palm Room, surveying with a dashed expression its now all but deserted spaces. With sickening contempt, Lucinda made hastily for the revolving door.

Simultaneously Bel caught sight of her and, with a blurred travesty of his really charming smile and a faltering parody of that air of gallant alacrity which she had once thought so engaging, moved to intercept Lucinda. And finding her escape cut off, she paused and awaited him with a stony countenance.

"Ah, there you are, eh, Linda! 'Fraid I'd missed you. Sorry couldn't get back sooner, but—"

"I'm not," Lucinda interrupted.

"But—look here, Linda: be reasonable—"

"I think I have been—what you call reasonable—long enough—too long!"

Bellamy hesitated, nervously moistening his lips.

"Here—take these flowers, won't you? Plenty for you and all your friends."

Again Lucinda defeated his attempt to disburden himself. "Oh, Bel!" she cried sadly—"how can you be such a fool?"

"How'm I a fool? Thought I was going to please you . . .I've made arrangements to have the afternoon free, just to be with you. We'll go somewhere."

"We will not," Lucinda told him inflexibly.

"I don't mind tagging along—"

"Sorry, but I don't want you."

Injudiciously again, Bellamy elected to show his teeth: "See here: where are you going? I've got a right to know—"

"Have you, Bel? Think again. I never ask you such questions. If I did, you'd either lose your temper or lie to me and justify yourself by asserting that no man ought to be asked to stand prying into his affairs. So—I leave you to your affairs— and only ask that you leave me to mine."

Neither spoke in that clash of will until Bellamy's weakened, his eyes shifted, and he stepped aside, slightly sobered.

"Please!" he begged in turn of penitence. "Didn't mean . . . had to pull myself together somehow to talk business at luncheon—"

"Oh! It was a business luncheon,

The New Coffee That is making Coffee History

ON January 1st, 1922, there was not a single pound of Anza, the Culture-Ripened Coffee, on sale anywhere in the United States.

In four months, it has become the most talked-about coffee in the entire country. Millions of people are drinking it, and pronouncing it the finest-flavored coffee they have ever tasted. Many thousands of dealers are selling it, from New York to the Rocky Mountains, and find its sales increasing faster than any other coffee they have ever known.

What is the reason for this marvelous success? Simply this! Anza, the Culture-Ripened Coffee, is the first coffee to have a real point of difference; its flavor is actually improved to a wonderful degree by the culture-ripening process, controlled exclusively for this coffee. In addition, by this natural ripening process, the bitter, harmful acids are removed and it is made acceptable to the many thousands of people who have unwillingly given up drinking ordinary coffee, because of its unpleasant after-effects.

You should be drinking this remarkable new coffee. Ask your grocer to tell you about it.

A can of Calumet Baking Powder will make more pies, cakes, biscuits, muffins, etc., then a can of most other brands.

It lasts longer—goes farther because it contains more than the ordinary leavening strength—therefore you use less.

When a recipe calls for two teaspoons of baking powder, use two level teaspoons of Calumet, the results will always be the same—perfectly raised bakings—remember this when you buy baking powder and don't forget that Calumet is the economic buy because it goes farther.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Had the time come for

LUCINDA DRUCE, wealthy, young and beautiful, to break with her husband,

BELLAMY? This was the thought running through Lucinda's mind as she lunched with her friend,

FANNY LONTAINE, at the Ritz. After five years of married life, Bel's incurable appetite for cheap flirtation and his heavy drinking had almost destroyed her love. Should she have married

RICHARD DAUBENEY, "good old Dobbin" who had now returned to New York?

That very morning she had, by accident, overheard her husband making a luncheon apointment with

MRS. AMELIE SEVERN, the most recent object of his attentions. In the lobby, she separated from her friends for an instant and was confronted by her husband, slightly intoxicated.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Thought I'd look in on your party. You know, you asked me—"

She could not trust her tongue. If she said more in her anger, she would say too much. She cried all in a breath: "Well, go away then! I don't want you, I won't have you!" and pushing past Bel fled into the cloakroom.

He drew himself up sharply and ironed out all indications of his embarrassment, assuming what he believed to be a look if haughty indifference.

His gaze focused intelligently upon the glass case that displays the wares of the hotel florist. Women liked flowers. But there were four in Linda' party, her guests would think it funny if he joined them, bringing flowers for his wife only . . . . A tough problem. He decided to step around to the club and mull it over . . . .

He had disappeared by the time Lucinda showed herself again. Outwardly mistress of herself, she resumed her chair as Richard Daubeney passed with his luncheon party, and made directly for her corner. Instantaneously Lucinda experienced a slight psychic shock and found herself again the self-contained, the young woman of the world whom nothing could dismay.

Dobbin kenw everybody except the Lontaines; and when the flutter created by his introduction had subsided, he found a chair by Lucinda's side and when the conversation swung to a pageant he took advantage of the general interest to detach Lucinda's attention.

"I couldn't resist the temptation to butt in, Cinda. Hope you don't mind."

"It's always nice to see you."

"I can see you're troubled about something because I know so much better than anybody else. I'll lay long odds no one else has noticed anything, but to my seeing eyes you've been flying signals of distress all during luncheon. That being so, it wouldn't be decent of me not to give you a hail and stand by in case I'm needed—now would it?"

Momentarily Lucinda contended against temptation. Then, "You are a dear, Dobbin," she said almost regretfully. "But it isn't fair of you to see too much. If it's true I have secrets I don't want to share, it would be kinder to let me keep them— don't you think?"

"Afraid I didn't hear—I was flirting with Dobbin."

"Yes, I know. But Mr. Lontaine has just made a priceless suggestion about the pageant. He says we can have moving-pictures taken as we enter the ballroom and shown before the evening is over."

"I don't know," Lucinda demurred. "It must be a weird sensation.'

"Not one you need be afraid of," Lontaine promised. "If you don't mind my saying so, you would screen wonderfully, Mrs. Druce."

"You think so, really?"

"Tell you what," Lontaine offered eagerly: "suppose you take test, what? No trouble at all to fix it up for you. Take us all, for that matter just as we are. What do you say?"

"I say it's perfectly splendid!" Jean Sedley declared. "We'd all love it. When can you arrange it?"

"This afternoon, if that suits everybody. Only have to telephone and in half an hour they'll be all ready for us. Shall I?" Lontaine got out of his chair. "Do you say yes, all of you. Mrs. Druce? I know the others will if you do?"

"I don't mind," Lucinda agreed hesitantly.

"Right-O! Give me five minutes. ."

VII

As Lontaine had promised, so had he performed. This cinema chap he knew, Culp, had professed himself only too delighted.

With two cars at its disposal, the party split up into threes, Mrs. Sedley, Mrs. Guest and Lontaine leading the way. On the point of entering her car after Fanny, however, Lucinda recalled her bridge engagement and turned back to telephone that she would be late.

Having seen no more of Bellamy since their encounter she had dismissed the possibility of his returning. The surprise was so much the more unwelcome, consequently, when on leaving the booth she saw her husband, with his hat on the back of his head and his arms full of lavender orchids, wavering irresolutely in the entrance to the Palm Room, surveying with a dashed expression its now all but deserted spaces. With sickening contempt, Lucinda made hastily for the revolving door.

Simultaneously Bel caught sight of her and, with a blurred travesty of his really charming smile and a faltering parody of that air of gallant alacrity which she had once thought so engaging, moved to intercept Lucinda. And finding her escape cut off, she paused and awaited him with a stony countenance.

"Ah, there you are, eh, Linda! 'Fraid I'd missed you. Sorry couldn't get back sooner, but—"

"I'm not," Lucinda interrupted.

"But—look here, Linda: be reasonable—"

"I think I have been—what you call reasonable—long enough—too long!"

Bellamy hesitated, nervously moistening his lips.

"Here—take these flowers, won't you? Plenty for you and all your friends."

Again Lucinda defeated his attempt to disburden himself. "Oh, Bel!" she cried sadly—"how can you be such a fool?"

"How'm I a fool? Thought I was going to please you . . . I've made arrangements to have the afternoon free, just to be with you. We'll go somewhere."

"We will not," Lucinda told him inflexibly.

"I don't mind tagging along—"

"Sorry, but I don't want you."

Injudiciously again, Bellamy elected to show his teeth: "See here: where are you going? I've got a right to know—"

"Have you, Bel? Think again. I never ask you such questions. If I did, you'd either lose your temper or lie to me and justify yourself by asserting that no man ought to be asked to stand prying into his affairs. So—I leave you to your affairs— and only ask that you leave me to mine."

Neither spoke in that clash of wills until Bellamy's weakened, his eyes shifted, and he steped aside, slightly sobered.

"Please!" he begged in turn of penitence. "Didn't mean . . . had to pull myself together somehow to talk business at luncheon—"

"Oh! It was a business luncheon,

The New Coffee That is making Coffee History

ON January 1st, 1922, there was not a single pound of Anza, the Culture-Ripened Coffee, on sale anywhere in the United States.

In four months, it has become the most talked-about coffee in the entire country. Millions of people are drinking it, and pronouncing it the finest-flavored coffee they have ever tasted. Many thousands of dealers are selling it, from New York to the Rocky Mountains, and find its sales increasing faster than any other coffee they have ever known.

What is the reason for this marvelous success? Simply this! Anza, the Culture-Ripened Coffee, is the first coffee to have a real point of difference; its flavor is actually improved to a wonderful degree by the culture-ripening process, controlled exclusively for this coffee. In addition, by this natural ripening process, the bitter, harmful acids are removed and it is made acceptable to the many thousands of people who have unwillingly given up drinking ordinary coffee, because of its unpleasant after-effects.

You should be drinking this remarkable new coffee. Ask your grocer to tell you about it.

ROWING STAGING SLOW COMEBACK AT WISCONSIN U.

PROSPECTS NOT ROSY, BUT PROGRESS IS EVIDENT; HOPE FOR WIN FROM MANITOBA LATE THIS MONTH

Madison, Wis.—The return of rowing to its former place among major sports at the University of Wisconsin is proving to be a slow process, with the problem of developing oarsmen out of inexperienced college students, paramount.

When university authoriteis last year removed the ban from intercollegiate rowing, imposed in 1914 after the school clinic held the sport injurious to the health of the athletes Coach H. E. Vail predicted that it would be several years before he could again have such a crew as in 1914 took second place at the Poughkeepsie regatta.

Lack Experienced Men

Coach Vail's task of training oarsmen from students most of whom had never seen a shell before their first trip on Lake Mendota, has raised serious difficulties, which have been increased through ineligibility of some of the best men.

This year the Badger eight, however, is expected to be in shape to give strong competition to its opponents. They have been on the lake for several weeks getting in shape for the long pulls which must be made in later races.

Three veterans from the first varsity crew of last year are among the eight oarsmen who will represent Wisconsin. Captain Toepfer is pulling stroke, with C. S. Puestow and G. C. Turner the other experienced men. Coach Vail has developed C. D. Newcomb, E. M. Plettner, R. J. Schuetz, E. H. Crozier and H. E. Johnson, from his freshmen squad of last year and from new material of the present season, for places in the varsity berths.

Meet Manitoba May 27

He is working to get his regulars in shape for the meet with the University of Manitoba on Lake Mendota, May 27. The Canadian Oarsmen are coming to this country for the first time, and it is expected will make the meet with the badgers an annual event.

During the second week in June, the University of Washington crew is expected to row Wisconsin on their way to Poughkeepsie regatta. Tentative arrangements for the contest already have been made by T. E. Jones, director of athletics at Wisconsin.

Coach Vail will not take his men to the eastern meet this year. He believes that before the Badgers again enter this regatta, the premier crew event of the country, they must have a group of oarsmen developed to the point that the former crews were developed. This, he points out, will require several years of training.

The way to easy street is not paved with soft things.

PATRICK COYLE GAINS 21 POUNDS AND FEELS FINE

Says He Couldn't Retain Even A Glass Of Water And Dreaded To Eat, Before He Began Taking Tanlac.

"I never saw anything to equal the way Tanlac has built me up," declared Patrick Coyle, 93 Martin St., Milwauke, stonecutter for the Andres Stone and Marble Co. "I suffered about as bad as anybody ever did, for five years, and fell off from 165 to 144 pounds. There was a constant pain in the small of my back and I suffered agony at work. My appetite was so poor and my digestion so bad I could hardly even retain a glass of water. I dreaded to eat and would go for days wtihout a bite, knowing I would suffer misery and I was on the point of giving up my job.

"Well, I soon improved when I began taking Tanlac, and now have regained my normal weight. I feel fine all the time, with a very fine appetite and no more back pains. It is always a pleasure for me to endorse Tanlac."

then?" asked Lucinda sweetly pausing.

"Of course."

"You leave me to infer that your affair with Amelie has reached the point where you take her to the Clique Club to talk terms." Bellamy's jaw sagged, his eyes were blank with consternation. "What else do you wish me to think, Bellamy?"

He made a pitiable effort to pull himself toegther. "Look here, Linda: you're all wrong about this—misinformed. I can explain—Damn it, you can't refuse—!"

"Can't I? Go home, Bel, get some sleep. When you wake up, if you still think you have anything to say—consider it carefully before you ask me to listen. Remember what I tell you now: you've lied to me for the last time, one more lie will end everything between us, finally and for all time!"

On the far West Side, the brougham drew to a shuddering stop before a row of brick buidings. That they were united in one service was proved by the legend running from end to end of the row beneath its second-story windows:

This was the nursery in which what Mr. Culp (or his press agent) had brilliantly imaged as the youngest, fairest sister of the plastic arts was fostering the finest flower of its expression, to wit, the artistry of Alma Daley, in private life, Mrs. Culp.

With every symptom of disgust the doorkeeper growled at Lontaine: "Yees kin g'wan up—but moind yer sthep; they's a darrrk turn in the sthairs. He pressed a button and a wire door swung back, the party sled through and stumbled up two flights of creaking stairs to a tiny doors stood all closed, each sternly stenciled: PRIVATE.

One of the doors opened hastily and ejected a nervously ingratiating young man, Mr. Lane, secretary to Mr. Culp. He shook each visitor warmly by the hand, then threw wide another of the PRIVATE doors.

"This is the main stage, ladies. Miss Daley is working on one of the sets now, making the final scenes of her latest picture, 'The Girl in the Dark'; so if you'll be kind enough not to talk out loud . . .Miss Daley is very, er, temperamental, you understand' . . ."

Reverently the barbarians tiptoed into the studio and huddled in an awe-stricken group.

LOCAL MAN WAS IN A BAD FIX

—"It helped my wife," said Adam Mours, 1304 High street, Wisconsin Rapids, a paperhanger, "so when I lost my appetite, became weak and rundown and suffered stomach trouble I naturally took Kozak. My tongue was always coated; food that I ate cause much distress as my stomach was in a acid condition.

"Well, Kozak made me feel 100 per cent better. It made it possible for me to sleep right, increased my appetite and aided the digestion of my food. I feel fine now when I get home from work while before I always felt weak and so tired out I could hardly get home." WINNER IN NEKOOSA ORATORY CONTEST

Hubert Wabers, senior in the Alexander High School, won first place in the boy's oratorical contest held in the high school auditorium at Nekoosa Thursday evening. The winning oration was Patrick Henry's "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death."

Geoffrey Johnson was second with "A Plea for Cuba" and Harold Topping was third with "The March of the Flag." Others taking part in the contest were Oscar Jahns with "Child Labor Problem," Anton Novak, "The March of the Constitution" and LaVere Klaus, "Why We Fought Germany."

Judges of the contest were Supt. E. G. Doudna, Principal J. Winden and W. F. Huffman, all of Wisconsin Rapids.

The Girls Glee Club of the Alexander High School gave two selections at the opening of the program and Miss Caroline Fitch played a piano solo during the brief intermission. Another selection by the Girls Glee Club closed the program.

The work of the Nekoosa orators reflects a great deal of credit upon Prin. Rohr of the Nekoosa high school who has personally given much attention to the training of the students.

Next week the girls oratorical contest will be held at the high school.

This year the Badger eight, however, is expected to be in shape to give strong competition to its opponents. They have been on the lake for several weeks getting in shape for the long pulls which must be made in later races.

Three veterans from the first varsity crew of last year are among the eight oarsmen who will represent Wisconsin. Captain Toepfer is pulling stroke, with C. S. Puestow and G. C. Turner the other experienced men. Coach Vail has developed C. D. Newcomb, E. M. Pfettner, R. J. Schuetz, E. H. Crozier and H. E. Johnson, from his freshmen squad of last year and from new material of the present season, for places in the varsity berths.

Meet Manitoba May 27

He is working to get his regulars in shape for the meet with the University of Manitoba on Lake Mendota, May 27. The Canadian Oarsmen are coming to this country for the first time, and it is expected will make the meet with the badgers an annual event.

During the second week in June, the University of Washington crew is expected to row Wisconsin on their way to Poughkeepsie regatta. Tentative arrangements for the contest already have been made by T. E. Jones, director of athletics at Wisconsin.

Coach Vail will not take his men to the eastern meet this year. He believes that before the Badgers again enter this regatta, the premier crew event of the country, they must have a group of oarsmen developed to the point that the former crews were developed. This, he points out, will require several years of training.

The way to easy street is not paved with soft things.

PATRICK COYLE GAINS 21 POUNDS AND FEELS FINE

Says He Couldn't Retain Even A Glass Of Water And Dreaded To Eat, Before He Began Taking Tanlac.

"I never saw anything to equal the way Tanlac has built me up," declared Patrick Coyle, 93 Martin St., Milwauke, stonecutter for the Andres Stone and Marble Co. "I suffered about as bad as anybody ever did, for five years, and fell off from 165 to 144 pounds. There was a constant pain in the small of my back and I suffered agony at work. My appetite was so poor and my digestion so bad I could hardly even retain a glass of water. I dreaded to eat and would go for days without a bite, knowing I would suffer misery and I was on the point of giving up my job.

"Well, I soon improved when I began taking Tanlac, and now have regained my normal weight. I feel fine all the time, with a very fine appetite and no more back pains. It is always a pleasure for me to endorse Tanlac."

them?" asked Lucinda sweetly pausing.

"Of course."

"You leave me to infer that your affair with Anelie has reached the point where you take her to the Clique Club to talk terms." Bellamy's jaw sagged, his eyes were blank with consternation. "What else do you wish me to think, Bellamy?"

He made a pitiable effort to pull himself together. "Look here, Linda: you're all wrong about this—misinformed. I can explain—Damn it, you can't refuse—!"

"Can't I? Go home, Bel, get some sleep. When you wake up, if you still think you have anything to say—consider it carefully before you ask me to listen. Remember what I tell you now: you've lied to me for the last time, one more lie will end everything between us, finally and for all time!"

On the far West Side, the brougham drew to a shuddering stop before a row of brick buidings. That they were united in one service was proved by the legend running from end to end of the row beneath its second-story windows:

This was the nursery in which what Mr. Culp (or his press agent) had brilliantly imaged as the youngest, fairest sister of the plastic arts was fostering the finest flower of its expression, to wit, the artistry of Alma Daley, in private life, Mrs. Culp.

With every symptom of disgust the doorkeeper growled at Lontaine: "Yees kin g'wan up—but moind yer ethep; they's a darrrk turn in the ethairs. He pressed a button and a wire door swung back, the party filed through and stumbled up two flights of creaking stairs to a tiny doors stood all closed, each sternly stenciled: PRIVATE.

One of the doors opened hastily and ejected a nervously ingratiating young man, Mr. Lane, secretary to Mr. Culp. He shook each visitor warmly by the hand, then threw wide another of the PRIVATE doors.

"This is the main stage, ladies, Miss Daley is working on one of the sets now, making the final scenes of her latest picture, 'The Girl in the Dark'; so if you'll be kind enough not to talk out loud . . . Miss Daley is very, er, temperamental, you understand' . . ."

Reverently the barbarians tiptoed into the studio and huddled in an awe-stricken group.

If Representative Hill of Maryland works as hard for his constituents in other respects as he does to induce congress to let them have stronger booze, he is a busy man.

LOCAL MAN WAS IN A BAD FIX

—"It helped my wife," said Adam Mours, 1304 High street, Wisconsin Rapids, a paperhanger, "so when I lost my appetite, became weak and rundown and suffered stomach trouble I naturally took Kozak. My tongue was always coated; food that I ate cause much distress as my stomach was in a acid condition.

"Well, Kozak made me feel 100 per cent better. It made it possible for me to sleep right, increased my appetite and aided the digestion of my food. I feel fine now when I get home from work while before I always felt weak and so tired out I could hardly get home." Kozak sold only by Sam Church; Nekoosa, Dennis; Milladore, Malik; Vesper, Dassow.—Advertisement.

WINNER IN NEKOOSA ORATORY CONTEST

Hubert Wabers, senior in the Alexander High School, won first place in the boy's oratorical contest held in the high school auditorium in Nekoosa Thursday evening. The winning oration was Patrick Henry's "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death."

Geoffrey Johnson was second with "A Plea for Cuba" and Harold Topping was third with "The March of the Flag." Others taking part in the contest were Oscar Jahns with "Child Labor Problem," Anton Novak, "The March of the Constitution" and LaVere Klaus, "Why We Fought Germany."

Judges of the contest were Supt. E. G. Doudna, Principal J. Winden and W. F. Huffman, all of Wisconsin Rapids.

The Girls Glee Club of the Alexander High School gave two selections at the opening of the program and Miss Caroline Fitch played a piano solo during the brief intermission. Another selection by the Girls Glee Club closed the program.

The work of the Nekoosa orators reflects a great deal of credit upon Prin. Rohr of the Nekoosa high school who has personally given much attention to the training of the students.

Next week the girls oratorical contest will be held at the high school.

WAUPACA ENTERS TEAM IN TRACK MEET TOMORROW

OTHER HIGH SCHOOLS CONSENT TO LAST MINUTE ENTRY; CUPS FOR WINNERS ARE AT HAND

Definite assurance was received today that Waupaca, as well as Stevens Point, Marshfield, and Wisconsin Rapids, will have a team entered in the track and field meet at the fair grounds tomorrow. Waupaca wrote to Coach Richards several days ago asking to be allowed to enter a team but due to the shortness of the time and the fact that the coaches of Stevens Point and Marshfield would have to be notified, it was not believed at that time that the request could be granted. The Waupaca management immediately got in touch with the other schools and, however, and it was decided to extend the time entry.

Make Stiff Competition

The contest tomorrow, which will be known as the Central Wisconsin high school track meet, will probably be made an annual affair if it works out satisfactorily this time. This is the first meet of the sort that has ever been held in Wisconsin Rapids and the local high school is working hard to make it a success. Track is a comparatively new sport here, and public interest in it is possibly not as great as it might be. In view of the large list of entries however, and the fact that the meet will practically determine the championship of this section of the state, it is expected that there will be a good turn out.

Waupaca is coming up with a team of twelve or fifteen men, and the entries will make competition considerably stiffer. All of the teams entered appear fairly well balanced, and the meet is sure to be close, with the local high school having as good a chance as any to win.

Cups Are Ready

The silver loving cups which will be awarded the winners have been engraved and are now on display at the business establishments of the men who donated them. There are fourteen cups in all, one for each of the thirteen events, and one for the individual high point winner.

Willard Denies Desire To Meet Jack Dempsey Again

(By Associated Press.)

Los Angeles, Cal., May 12—Jess Willard former heavyweight boxing champion, mentioned recently in a dispatch from Paris as seeking a bout with the present champion, Jack Dempsey, is not seeking a return match with the champion, according to a statement attributed to Willard today by a local newspaper.

A lot of men in the bathing suits this summer will not be taken for the Patagonian sea monster.

Carpentier Puts K. O. On Kid Lewis In Opening Round

London, May 12—(By the Associated Press)—Georges Carpentier last night knocked out Ted ("Kid") Lewis in the first round of what was to have been a twenty round bout for the light heavyweight championship of the world, held by Carpentier. Carpentier in breaking from a clinch, drove a sharp right to the point of Lewis' jaw. The Englishman topped over backward and lay motionless on the floor until the referee counted him out. Then Carpentier picked up his fallen foe and aided in carrying him to his corner.

The spectators were slow to realize what had occurred, but when finally they comprehended that the battle was over and that Lewis was defeated, there arose a storm of boos and cries of "foul" from all parts of the great auditorium, which drowned out the comparatively little applause Carpentier was receiving from his partisans.

Two Minute Bout

From the sound of the gong to the end of the referee's count two minutes and fifteen seconds intervened. Carpentier weighed 175 pounds, the light heavyweight limit, while Lewis tipped the scales at 157 pounds with his clothes on when the fighters weighed in this afternoon.

Make Final Preparations For Baseball Game Sunday

The managers of the Tri-City baseball team spent today in Stevens Point making final preparations for the opening game here Sunday. The Point team has been thoroughly reinforced since its one run victory over Mosinee last Sunday, and the game will undoubtedly be close.

A large delegation of Stevens Point boosters are planning to make the trip over here, apparently confident of victory. The local management is making no promises, but L. P. Daniels said today that he was confident that the local organization included as good a bunch of ball players as ever represented a central Wisconsin city, and that he was willing to leave the verdict as to the worth of the team to the judgment of those who see the game Sunday.

Balloon In Race At Milwaukee To Carry New Radio

Milwaukee, Wis.— (By The Associated Press)—One of the government balloons which will compete in the National Balloon Race for 1922, to start here May 31, will carry a complete and new radio alignment which will be tested here for the first time. For the third time American army and navy balloons will compete against civilians. Most of the government pilots saw service in the World War. The army will send three balloons and the navy two, but great secrecy appears to surround the entry of these balloons.

In addition, entries have come from Ralph H. Upson of New York, who won the International Gordon Bennett trophy in 1913; J. C. McKibben of St. Louis, Mo., R. F. Donaldson of Springfield, Ill., H. E. Honeywell, of Clayton, Mo., and Warren Rasor of Brookville, O. The races will be one of the largest in number of entries held in America.

During the week of May 29 a series of plane races will be conducted under the direction of the Aero Club of Wisconsin, the aeronautical section of the Wisconsin Association of Compromises from various aero clubs that they will send planes to the city to give the balloons a good send-off and also promises from army officials that they will have a number of planes on hand. Brig. Gen. William Mitchell will fly to Milwaukee from Washington, D. C., accompanied by two other planes. Thirty or more planes are expected to be available for the demonstration, including some from Chicago, Monmouth, Ill., Detroit, Mich., Minneapolis, Minn., Dayton, O., and New York.

Balloon In Race At Milwaukee To Carry New Radio

Milwaukee, Wis.—(By The Associated Press)—One of the government balloons which will compete in the National Balloon Race for 1922, to start here May 31, will carry a complete and new radio alignment which will be tested here for the first time. For the third time American army and navy balloons will compete against civilians. Most of the government pilots saw service in the World War. The army will send three balloons and the navy two, but great secrecy appears to surround the entry of these balloons.

In addition, entries have come from Ralph H. Upson of New York, who won the International Gordon Bennett trophy in 1913; J. C. McKibben of St. Louis, Mo., R. F. Donaldson of Springfield, Ill., H. E. Honeywell, of Clayton, Mo., and Warren Rasor of Brookville, O. The races will be one of the largest in number of entries held in America.

During the week of May 29 a series of plane races will be conducted under the direction of the Aero Club of Wisconsin, the aeronautical section of the Wisconsin Association of Compromises from various aero clubs that they will send planes to the city to give the balloons a good send-off and also promises from army officials that they will have a number of planes on hand. Brig. Gen. William Mitchell will fly to Milwaukee from Washington, D. C., accompanied by two other planes. Thirty or more planes are expected to be available for the demonstration, including some from Chicago, Monmouth, Ill., Detroit, Mich., Minneapolis, Minn., Dayton, O., and New York.

OPENING

LUZINSKI SHOE CO.

Saturday, May 13th

Although we are disappointed in not getting in all of our goods for our opening day, we have enough to show you that we mean business and have come to stay.

It is our intention to give the people of Wisconsin Rapids and vicinity a shoe store which will render service to all, or in other words, a store conducted on the same lines and margin of profits as before prices went crazy, in this as well as other lines of goods.

Medium Priced Shoes

Knowing as we do that the wholesale prices of shoes have made a wonderful drop and that many factories are willing to make us very low prices in order to keep their factories going, we have decided to specialize in medium priced shoes, with no catch figure prices such as $2.19, $3.15, or $4.85.

Wait For These Shoes

Within the next ten days we will have 500 pairs of men's high grade shoes in brown and black calf, lace and blucher, Goodyear welt, oak soles, solid leather insoles and counters which we will offer to you at an exceptionally low price. We expect these shoes any day—WATCH FOR THIS ANNOUNCEMENT.

We do not expect to get rich at the game, the way we intend to conduct the business. In fact, all we want is a decent living and a fair interest in our investment. We are even willing to assume the contract the first year until we get things going.

We have served the people in this vicinity with footwear for upwards of twenty years and we are willing to stand on our past record as to our square dealings.

We thank you all for past favors and trust that we may secure at least part of your shoe trade in the future.
